WIDGET CLASSNAME REFERENCE GUIDE

BASED ON ELEMENTOR V.2.84 AND ELEMENTOR PRO V.2.83

created by Frank Tielemans (2020)

FOR WHOM IS THIS GUIDE?

In general, this guide is for all Elementor lovers with knowledge of CSS. For people who want to code more and inspect less.

OK, we can style a lot with the regular widget layout & style options, but not everything. We have the custom CSS field in the advanced options, but still we have to inspect the page to know the widget classnames. Without these classnames we simply can't target the elements and style them with custom CSS.

AFAIK, there is no list of all the widget classnames available, so I decided to create one myself. While doing so I took HTML hierachie into account, because when you write CSS (and HTML) it's very useful to know the parent-child-siblings-ancestor... relationship of the HTML elements.

DOCUMENT NAVIGATION

- When searching for an Elementor widget I recommend to use the TOC (Table of contents) page. The list is sorted alphabetically. This is an interactive PDF, so you can click on each list item in the TOC and it will bring you to right page.

- See that Elementor logo at the center bottom of the page? That's a button to navigate to the first page of the TOC page. You can find one on each page of the document.

- You can also use the search function of your PDF reader. The PDF also has bookmarks for every widget page.

UNDERSTANDING THE HIERACHIE

.elementor-widget-icon-list
    .elementor-widget-container
    .elementor-icon-list-items                 <ul>
        .elementor-icon-list-item              <li>
            .elementor-icon-list-icon       ➜
            .elementor-icon-list-text

If you have knowlegde of HTML and CSS, you should understand why these classnames are indented, but if not here it goes...
The indents indicate what element is the parent, the child, the sibling and the ancestor.
In this example .elementor-icon-list-item  contains .elementor-icon-list-icon  and .elementor-icon-list-text
Therefore, .elementor-icon-list-item  is the parent of both elements. However , .elementor-widget-icon-list  is NOT a parent of .elementor-icon-list-icon  and .elementor-icon-list-text. . Even though it contains both elements, it does not directly contain them. .elementor-widget-icon-list  is the ancestor of all elements. .elementor-widget-container  and .elementor-icon-list-items  are sibling elements because they share the same parent. The  element has no classname and is a child from the  element.

UNDERSTANDING THE COLORCODING

Not all HTML code is visible at all times. Some widgets have functions and skins that you can choose from and this can create or remove elements in the DOM, change the tags or even change the order of elements. To adress this I decided to use a colorcoded system. It's self-explanatory, just look at the colors in the titles and the code and you immediately see which elements correspond to which functions. Sometimes the whole HTML structure can change. (eg: media-carousel with the different skins)

LINKED WITH LIGHTBOX, WITH CAPTION

.elementor-widget-theme-post-featured-image
    .elementor-widget-container
        .elementor-image
            .wp-caption                  <figure> ➜  ➜ <img>
                .wp-caption-text                <figcaption

UNDERSTANDING THE TAGS

`.elementor-widget-button`   ``

This is a simple  with classname .elementor-widget-button

`.elementor-button-icon`   `` ➜ ``

The  has classname .elementor-button-icon. The  element has no classname and is nested inside the .
The  is the parent and the  is the child element

`.elementor-author-box__name`   `<h1…h6,div,span,p>`

This element could be a <h1>,<h2>,<h3>,<h4>,h5> or <h6>, a , a  or a  element.

`.elementor-widget-container`   `` ➜ `<…>`

This  element has class .elementor-widget-container and it's the parent of a dynamic element.
This tag could be anything.

`.elementor-blockquote__content`   ``
`<footer>`
`.elementor-blockquote__author`   `<cite>`

Sometimes a tag is not right aligned. This means that this element has no classname and it's not a child element of the previous element.
Here it is a  element. The <footer> is on the same level as .elementor-blockquote__content. Therefore .elementor-blockquote__author is a child from <footer>.

ARE ALL CLASSNAMES LISTED?

No, some are not listed, because they are not relevant for styling purposes. The screen-only class for example is not meant to be styled, it's code only for screen readers.

Some icons,  elements in most cases, do have Font-Awesome classes but I choose not to list them. because in these widgets, you can choose for a different icon and this will change that classname anyway.

WHAT'S NEXT?

Before you ask, I'm not planning to do the same for popular elementor plugins like Pionet, Ultimate addons, Happy addons, The Plus addons,... There are way too many to choose from...

However, I might do an update in the future for the Woocommerce plugin. When you install Woocommerce and add some products, new widgets will pop up in the editor, mostly widgets for the single and archive product pages.

FOUND SOMETHING WRONG?

I created this reference guide on my own in about 6 days. I tripple checked it , but there could be some mistakes.
If you find some or have other questions, don't hesitate to contact me on info@glyphbox.be and I will fix it in an update.
I will upload the updated PDF document in the files section in the Advanced Elementor Facebook group

I also have a Youtube channel where you can find a few Elementor tutorials, mostly related to custom CSS coding.
Now I have this guide, so I might make more tutorials about this topic.
Feel free to subscribe and happy editing!

There is some additional info at the very end of this document about me plus a list with usefull links about learning CSS and stuff.

ACCORDEON

.elementor-widget-accordeon
    .elementor-widget-container
        .elementor-accordeon
            .elementor-accordeon-item
                .elementor-tab-title              <H1…H6,div> ➜
                .elementor-tab-content

.elementor-widget-accordeon
    .elementor-widget-container
        .elementor-accordeon
            .elementor-accordeon-item
                .elementor-tab-title                     <H1…H6,div>
                    .elementor-accordeon-icon
                        .elementor-accordeon-icon-closed   ➜
                        .elementor-accordeon-icon-opened   ➜

            <svg>
                <path>

.elementor-widget-animated-headline
    .elementor-widget-container                       ➔
        .elementor-headline                     <h1…h6,div,span,p>
            .elementor-headline-plain-text
            .elementor-headline-dynamic-wrapper
                .elementor-headline-dynamic-text
            <svg>
                <path>

ANIMATED HEADLINE (PART 2)

.elementor-widget-animated-headline
    .elementor-widget-container                          ➜
      .elementor-headline                          <h1…h6,div,span,p>
         .elementor-headline-plain-text
         .elementor-headline-dynamic-wrapper
            .elementor-headline-dynamic-text
         <svg>
            <path>
         .elementor-headline-plain-text

To target ONLY the after text use this selector: `.elementor-headline-plain-text.elementor-headline-text-wrapper`

WHO AM I?

My name is Frank Tielemans, 47 years old and living in Belgium, Ternat, (near Brussels). I 'm an experienced (+ 30 years) printdesigner and a self-taught webdesigner/developer. I own a local print-webdesign agency named Glyphbox (Dutch only).

I've learned HTML, CSS and bit Javascript & Jquery back in 2016 and I made a few websites just with pure code. Printdesign & branding is still my core business, I just started with webdesign out of intrest, because learning is one of my favorite hobbies.

In 2018 (better late than never huh?) I've started with Wordpress and Elementor and my knowledge of HTML & CSS now came in very handy.

DID YOU KNOW...

...that I created this document with only my left hand? (while I'm right-handed) Why? Because I had a silly accident and I hurt my right hand. I had to undergo surgery and now I have to wear that stupid plaster bandage for two weeks. I couldn't work, I was bored and I decided to spend my time useful by compiling this list.
Am I autistic? No I am not, I'm just very dedicated :)

...I created this document in Adobe Indesign? I needed 20 paragraph styles, 15 character styles, 6 nested styles and 3 GREP styles.

LEARNING IS MY MIDDLE NAME

I highly recommend to learn HTML and CSS and these are the sources I've used (and still do):
